The Calvert County Board of County Commissioners will present the 2010 Sustainable Agriculture Awards

for outstanding achievements in agricultural sustainability.

Nominations of individuals or organizations are now being accepted for each of the following categories.

Sustainable Farmer of the Year Award

This award recognizes a local farm that has a Soil Conservation Plan in place. The farm should utilize best management practices in soil conservation, should have a diversity of crops, should have implemented a plan to reduce pesticide use and is selling a crop directly to consumers.

Preference will be given to farms on preserved properties.

Green Grocer of the Year Award

This award is presented to a retailer who buys and sells local products when in season. The business will have featured local products in advertising and business promotions. The variety and presentation of local goods sold will also be considered. All nominated grocers must be located in Calvert County.

Buy Local Restaurant of the Year Award

This award is presented to a restaurant that buys local products when in season. The ideal candidate will feature and advertise local products on menus and in special recipes. Special consideration will be given to those that offer a variety of local goods used in meals and for uniqueness in presentation.

The restaurant must be located in Calvert County.

All nominations must be received by September 20, 2010.
